Patrick Paul & Associates

specializes in the art of personal and professional holistic development for individuals affected by chemical addiction, trauma, and historical multigenerational trauma.

Our mission is to create within the communities "The Spirit of Healing, Wellness, and Empowerment." We offer professional behavioral health services that incorporate cognitive, affective, and experiential learning, encouraging the participants to develop intellectually, creatively, emotionally, culturally, and spiritually – thus enhancing personal and professional development.

Services

Patrick Paul & Associates offers a full range of consulting services, including development and provision of curricula for specific tribal behavioral health programs licensure and certification requirements. Training is available in many formats appropriate for the needs of individuals requiring certification and/or licensure. This includes on-site in one to five day units, regional workshops provided at tribal locations, and individual consultation for program development, either on-site or through distance education, for non-profit and tribal organizations and behavioral health programs and colleges.

Curricula

Complete requirements for degrees at the Associate and Bachelor's levels for Addiction Counsellors.

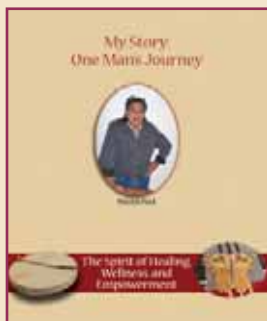

Courses and curricula are approved by:

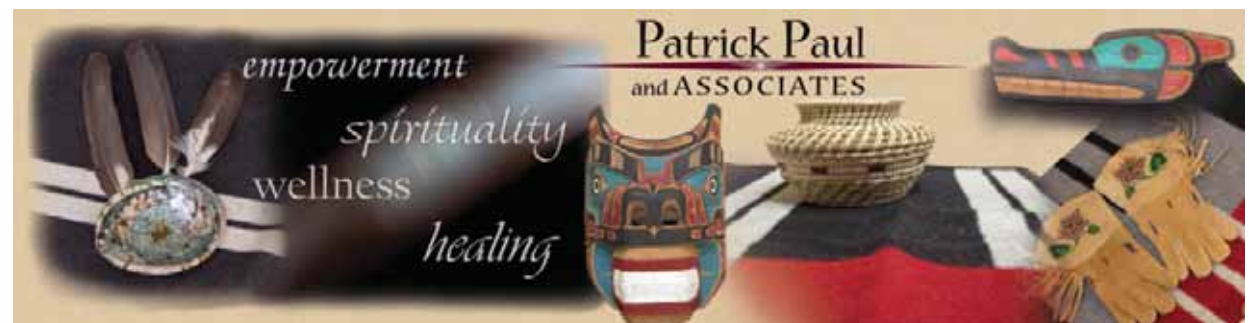

- NAADAC – the association for addiction professionals
- First Nations Wellness/Addictions Counsellor Certification Board
- Hey-way-noque Healing Circle for Addictions Counsellor Education
- Northwest Indian College
